GWEN TO REPLACE MILEY ON THE VOICE: TERRIFIC OR TOO BAD?

The Voice announced on Oct. 18 that it will change coaches again next fall, bringing back Gwen Stefani, 47, in place of newcomer Miley Cyrus. (Mainstays Adam Levine and Blake Shelton will return, along with current newbie Alicia Keys.) "Miley is amazing," raves an online commenter. "I don't think Gwen is as fun to watch or as good a coach." Others are fine with the 23-year-old getting the wrecking ball. Says one: "I will not watch another season with obnoxious Miley!"

MARY J. BLIGE'S EX WANTS HOW MUCH?!

Mary J. Blige's estranged husband is demanding she pay for the lavish lifestyle he grew accustomed to during their 12-year marriage ... to the amount of $129,319 a month! Martin "Kendu" Isaacs, 49, argues in papers filed on Oct. 17 in LA Superior Court that the singer, 45, should help cover the cost of his private chef, personal trainer, rent, charitable contributions, vacations, clothes and child support ($5K a month to another woman!). He also gives his parents $5K every month. The pair have a prenup, but Martin argues it isn't valid because he didn't have a lawyer present when they signed it. So much for no more drama!
