Blake & Gwen

WEDDING & A BABY

After a year together, Blake Shelton and Gwen Stefani are taking the plunge — and starting a family

If there's one thing Blake Shelton wants to make clear, it's that he and Gwen Stefani are a team. On the Sept. 20 episode of The Voice, the country singer went head-to-head with rival coach Adam Levine trying to win over a reggae and blues singer. "I do have some serious connections in that reggae-ska world these days," he teased. His reference to his girlfriend, a former coach on the show, worked. "I'm not afraid to say I played the Gwen Stefani card," he explained later. "If you got it, you gotta use it."

He plans on using that card for a long time to come. The couple of a year are so serious, Life & Style has exclusively learned, they're getting married and have decided to have a baby. "They're telling friends they feel as if they're already officially engaged," says a Gwen insider. "It's only a matter of time until they formally announce the engagement. And while they're planning the wedding, they're actively trying to start a family. They've never been happier or more in love."

ROMANTIC "I DO'S"

The wedding will be an intimate affair because this will be the third marriage for Blake, 40, and the second for Gwen, 46. They fell in love in 2015, while bonding over his split from Miranda Lambert and hers from Gavin Rossdale. "A huge wedding would just be tacky," says the insider. They plan to hold it on Blake's sprawling Oklahoma ranch around the Christmas holiday. "It will be very romantic, with a lot of flowers and candles," says the insider. "The guest list will include family and their closest friends. It's obvious to everyone around them that they're perfect for each other. They often complete each other's sentences."

EXPANDING THE FAMILY

If they get their wish, Gwen will be a pregnant bride. The singer, who's already Mom to Kingston, 10, Zuma, 8, and Apollo, 2, "has no problem walking down the aisle while pregnant," says the insider, adding that Gwen plans to undergo in vitro fertilization. "She has incredible doctors and she's explored all her options, including surrogates," says a source close to the couple. "No matter what, Gwen wants the child to be hers and Blake's baby together. She's ready."

And Gwen can't wait to see Blake — who has passed the stepdad test with flying colors — have a baby of his own. "She sees how amazing Blake is with her kids and she told him she wants to give him his own child," says the source. Adds the insider: "She loves that he's such a family man. Seeing Blake with her kids just makes Gwen fall in love with him even more." LS

Miranda's Rushing to the Altar, Too!

Blake's ex Miranda Lambert, 32, may beat him to the altar. The "Vice" singer is also planning a wedding to her boyfriend, singer Anderson East, 28, by the end of the year, Life & Style has learned. "She and Anderson are happier than ever," says a source, "and can't wait to get married in Nashville [Tenn.]." The guest list is shaping up to be a country who's-who. Already on: superstars Carrie Underwood, Kenny Chesney, Chris Stapleton and Jason Isbell. "They keep adding to the list," says the source. "It's going to be a country-music blowout!"
