ODD GIRL OUT

“Christina thought she was part of a team,” a source says. “But Blake had no problem leaving her in the cold.”

PERFECT FIT

After Gwen charmed all the boys on The Voice, a source says, the dynamic has been “weird” since Christina’s return.

CHRISTINA QUITTING THE VOICE!

Christina Aguilera’s never been one of the guys — her Mickey Mouse Club castmates nicknamed her “The Diva,” after all — so it’s no surprise that she wasn’t thrilled to see the success her tomboyish fill-in, Gwen Stefani, had palling around with the rest of the judges on The Voice.

But once she got word that Blake Shelton had reportedly lobbied to have Gwen take her place on the panel permanently, a source says, it cemented

the divide between her and her costars. “Knowing Blake wanted her gone has left Christina feeling heartbroken and betrayed,” says the Voice insider. “She’s putting on a brave face and will complete Season 10 like a pro, but then that’s it — she wants out.”

Still, the source concedes that Christina may be partly to blame for the situation. When Gwen took over for Christina in Season 7 (and again in Season 9), the insider explains, “it was a breath of fresh air. Christina has a reputation for being high-maintenance. Whereas Gwen became like a little sister to the other judges, Christina walks around like she’s the boss.”

Perhaps it’s for the best, as Christina’s solo projects stack up, including her eighth album, due later this year, and online singing lessons she’s offering through MasterClass. “Her heart isn’t in it anymore,” says the source. “She doesn’t know how to fit in, so why stay in an awkward situation?” Talk about leaving on a low note!

OUR FASHION EDITORS MAKE THE CALL

Chloë Grace
Moretz vs.
Nazanin
Mandi

Chloë's look was more natural thanks to minimal makeup, while the model's updo and smoky eye were overkill with the flirty Proenza Schouler top.

Lady Gaga
vs. Gwen Stefani

No Applause for her: Lady Gaga's accessories are too quirky for this girly MSGM dress. Gwen kept her styling simple and chic.
