

GWEN'S PICK-ME-UP

"Gwen plans on waiting until after she's healed from her surgery to start dating again," an insider says of the Voice star.

Who couldn't use a boost as they're going through a divorce? When it comes to Gwen Stefani, though, a spa treatment or new pair of shoes just won't do: The 46-year-old mother of three is treating herself to a breast lift. In August, less than a week after filing papers for her split from Gavin Rossdale, Gwen was spotted at L.A.'s Cedars-Sinai Hospital consulting with a prominent doctor who specializes in breast reconstruction and cosmetic surgery. "She swore she would have them done after giving birth last year to [her third son] Apollo, so she's been thinking about it for a while," says a source. "Now she's put herself on the fast track to a new and improved bod." The timing couldn't be better, as the surgery should give a lift to Gwen's love life as well. "She's torn up over the divorce," the insider adds, "but she's getting excited at the thought of meeting someone new." Sounds like her heart — and her chest — will be on the mend soon!

DAVID MISTAKEN FOR RICKY

They're both English and bearded, but beyond that, there haven't been too many similarities between David Beckham and Ricky Gervais — until now. Recently, an insider close to Becks reveals, the soccer icon, 40, has been mistaken more than once for the comic actor, 54. "David's looking haggard lately," explains the source. "He's been in the sun a lot and partying. Now he's had a real wake-up call, and he's determined to get back into shape again." Enjoy it while you can, Ricky!

"Someone at SoulCycle referred to David as Ricky," says a source, "and he definitely wasn't happy. He told the guy to get his names straight."

MISCHA BEGGING FOR WORK

What goes around comes around is a life lesson Mischa Barton apparently never learned, and it's hitting her hard now that she's broke. With her Beverly Hills house in foreclosure, the 29-year-old former star of The O.C. — who has also dealt with a DUI and what she called "a full-on breakdown" since her series ended — has been "begging every contact she ever had in Hollywood for jobs," says a source. "The problem is that when Mischa was a big star, she wasn't the nicest person. She thought she was more important than anyone on any set, and now no one wants to help her. It's a very sad situation."