BLAKE
AND GWEN

INSIDE THEIR LIFE TOGETHER

WHAT A DIFFERENCE A YEAR makes. Last summer Blake Shelton was heartbroken and going through a divorce after his four-year marriage to wife Miranda Lambert fell apart. Gwen Stefani was coping with her own tumultuous split from ex-husband Gavin Rossdale. But now a source close to Stefani tells People both stars are happier than ever—and although they've only been dating for eight months, there's already talk of marriage. "They are not engaged yet," says the source. "But everyone is expecting it to happen at some point."

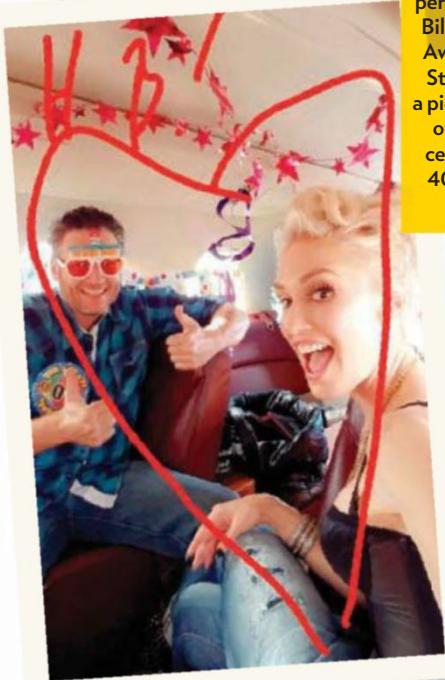

Shelton, 40, credits Stefani, 46, with rescuing him from a low point. "Gwen saved my life," the country star told Billboard magazine. Shelton said that after his divorce, "I was at rock bottom, in the middle of hell." But he was surprised—and relieved—to find comfort with Stefani shared these sweet photos of her and Shelton on Instagram. "They are really happy and act like a married couple," says a source.

Shelton and Stefani performed at the Billboard Music Awards in May; Stefani shared a pic on Snapchat of the couple celebrating his 40th birthday in June.

Voice costar Stefani, who was going through a similar breakup. “It went from checking in on each other once a week to maybe three times a week, then every day,” Shelton said. “Next thing I know, I wake up and she’s all I care about, and I’m wondering if she feels the same about me.”

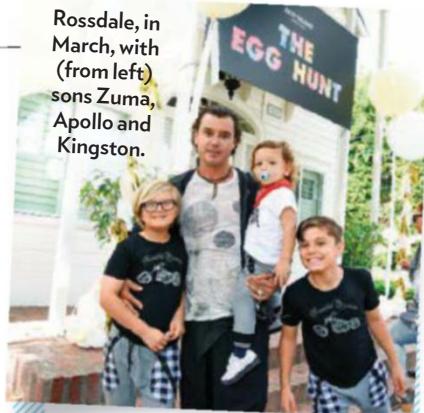

She did. “Before dating Blake, Gwen seemed lost. She had the roughest time with her divorce,” says the Stefani source. “Now she is very happy. She always acts giddy when she talks about him.” These days the couple usually shun the Hollywood nightlife for quiet evenings alone at Stefani’s L.A. home or playing with her three boys—Kingston, 10, Zuma, 7, and Apollo, 2—who, an insider close to the couple says, “love Blake.” Stefani has also embraced Shelton’s hometown of Tishomingo, Okla., and “their families love each other” after spending holidays together, adds the insider.

When it comes to their careers, the two are mutually supportive: Shelton has flown to be with Stefani on her tour, which kicked off on July 12. “He understands the pressure before a tour and is Gwen’s biggest fan,” the source says. Adds the insider: “Blake’s been in very close touch even when they’re both traveling.” When Shelton hits the road this fall, Stefani plans to join him as well. Says the Stefani source: “All the things that need to work out for two people to merge lives have worked out. They rescued each other.” —BY MIA McNIECE with Pernilla Cedenheim and Melody Chiu

AND HOW ARE THEIR EXES DOING?

Shelton and Stefani’s former spouses have moved on too. Miranda Lambert, 32, recently released “Vice”—her emotional first single since the split—and is dating fellow country crooner Anderson East, 29, with whom “she seems to be happy,” says pal Neal McCoy. Meanwhile, Bush rocker Gavin Rossdale, 50, is putting the finishing touches on a new album and touring with the band. “When he’s not performing, Gavin spends his time with the kids,” an insider says. “He knows the situation hasn’t been easy for them, and he’s with them as much as possible. They’re his life.”
