

FURIOUS XTINA: BLAKE WANTS TO REPLACE ME!

THE VOICE'S VILLAIN?

There may not be a neon light at the end of this tunnel. Blake Shelton's on-set romance with Gwen Stefani has hit a sour note with his other Voice costar, Christina Aguilera, who feels like the country crooner is lobbying to get her fired! "Blake's not being subtle about campaigning for Gwen to stay on at Christina's expense. It's made things very tense on set," dishes an NBC insider. Once upon a time, it was Christina who was the object of Blake's flirtatious nature, but now her work crush has more than lost interest: He's become her enemy! "Blake's gone on this power trip by trying to control the way the show runs and everyone's getting annoyed," says the source. "Christina thinks he and Gwen are ganging up on her and playing dirty. She feels totally stabbed in the back." ★

LEANN'S 24 KARAT LIE!

LeAnn Rimes can't stop gushing about pricey presents from her husband, Eddie Cibrian — too bad she's the one actually paying for them. On Christmas Eve, the singer posted an Instagram photo of a ring allegedly from Eddie, but was left red-faced when the jeweler commented that it was LeAnn who bought and designed the bauble and that Eddie had nothing to do with it.

"That post was such a desperate attempt to flaunt her lavish love life, and it backfired," said a source, noting that this isn't the first time she's tried to paint eternally unemployed Eddie as a Daddy Warbucks.

In August she falsely claimed that Eddie bought her a Celine bag when it was actually purchased by her assistant (with LeAnn's own money), and last year LeAnn boasted online that Eddie built her a chalkboard only to have a follower point out that the board was for sale at the resort LeAnn and Eddie had just visited.

"Every time she tries to fantasize about her marriage, someone on her page will expose her lies," adds the insider. "It's becoming an embarrassing pattern." ★

THE BACHELOR'S LACE:

WANTED WOMAN!

What happens in Vegas stays in Vegas, but not where Star is concerned. We've discovered that The Bachelor contestant Lace Morris — the Colorado-based realtor who has become the show's early-season firebrand after her drunken antics on the premiere episode — has an open warrant for her arrest in Sin City! Lace, 26, was living in Las Vegas when she was stopped for a traffic violation in 2013, but she hadn't yet obtained a resident driver's license. She was given 30 days to get one, but failed to do so, and she eventually moved back to Colorado, skipping out on more than $500 in unpaid court-ordered fines. A court official confirms to Star that Lace would be arrested if she were picked up anywhere in Clark County (Nev.), which raises the question: Could Ben Higgins become the first Bachelor to propose to an inmate? ★

LACE MORRIS