Kristen & Alicia

SECRETLY WED?

COULD belated best wishes be in order? Speculation that Kristen Stewart was engaged to girlfriend Alicia Cargile has been circulating since August, after Star reported that the Clouds of Sils Maria starlet, 25, was openly referring to her former assistant as “my wife” at a premiere party. But photographs of Kristen arriving at Los Angeles International Airport on Jan. 13 wearing a gold band on her ring finger have left the actress’ colleagues buzzing about a secret ceremony! “If they did make it official, Kristen and Alicia would have kept it very hush-hush,” explains a source, noting that a short but sweet City Hall ceremony over the holidays certainly would have suited the laid-back ladies’ personalities. “Honestly, they’ve never seemed happier.” ★

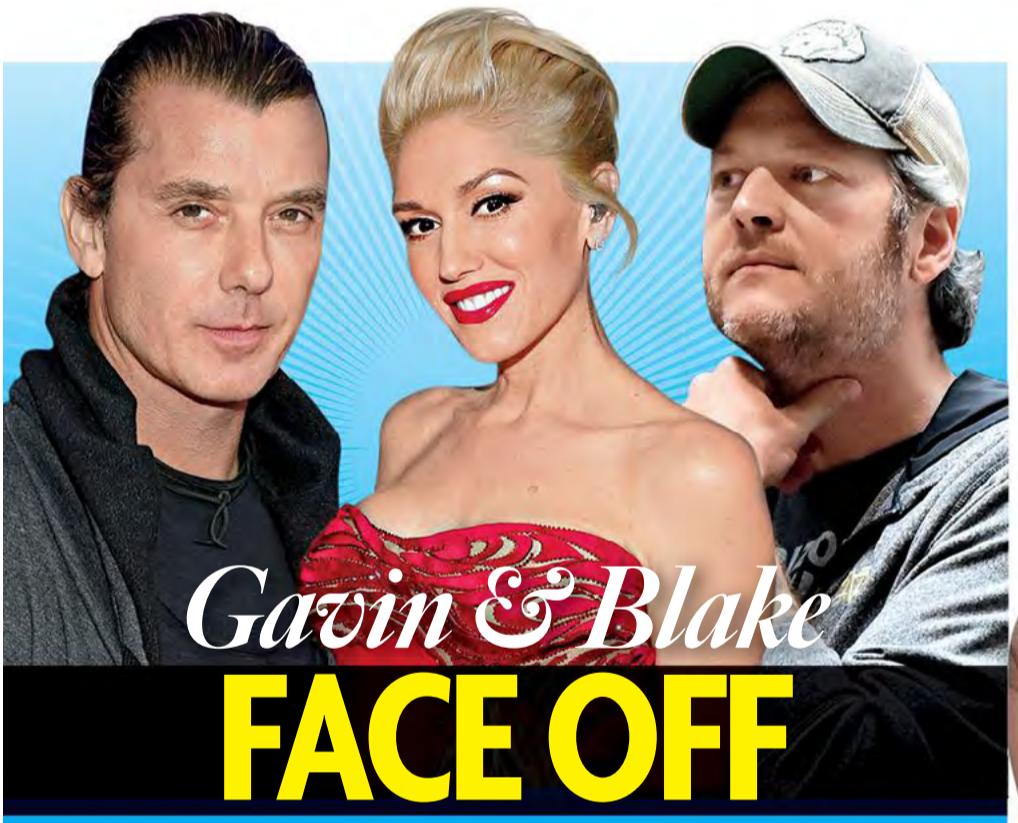

Kate & Michael

HUNGRY FOR A FIGHT

What’s eating Kate Bosworth? While it’s no surprise that celebs will do just about anything to look their best on the red carpet, a source tells Star that the seriously skinny actress, 33, was perhaps feeling a bit hangry with husband Michael Polish, 45, at the Golden Globe Awards on Jan. 10. “He stopped by the bar to grab some finger food, but she made him put down his plate,” spills the spy, adding that Kate has long been plagued by eating disorder rumors. “She looked pretty peeved, and well, he just looked fed up.” Considering the ceremony almost always runs over three hours, can you blame him? ★

Gavin & Blake

FACE OFF

Breaking up is hard to do, but having to watch your ex-wife’s new boyfriend play stepdad to your sons? Well, Gavin Rossdale can’t imagine anything worse now that Gwen Stefani has introduced Blake Shelton to Kingston, 9, Zuma, 7, and Apollo, 1. “Blake has really taken to helping out with the boys,” reveals a source. “He and Gwen take them to the arcade and to the movies and even sit down for family dinners. It’s no wonder Gavin feels replaced.” And when the country singer, 39, suggested they grab a beer — man-to-man — the source wasn’t shocked to hear that the British rocker, 50, turned down his offer. “Gavin has no interest in becoming buddies with Blake,” says the pal. “And he doesn’t care if it’s awkward for Gwen.” ★
