

"You will see a lot of fighting on the show," says a source close to the pair (in Las Vegas May 27).

ROB KARDASHIAN

His Reality No-Shows

Rob Kardashian can't keep up with his filming schedule. Following a three-year TV hiatus, the once-reclusive reality star, 29, "has skipped and not shown up for" several shoots for Rob & Chyna, his upcoming six-episode E! docu-series with fiancée Blac Chyna, a source confirms. "He's struggling to readjust to the grind." While Chyna, 28, five months pregnant with their daughter, has filmed solo during his recent absences, Kardashian fears the spinoff was a mistake. "It was like a honeymoon before the show started," explains a source close to Kardashian, who has battled depression and briefly unfollowed his bride-to-be on Instagram after a July spat. "But filming and living with your pregnant partner is stressful. Rob shuts down."

NASHVILLE NUPTIALS

Now Gwen Stefani and Blake Shelton are collaborating on their future. An insider says the pair have hired Jerri Woolworth, who has produced events for President Barack Obama, to plan a wedding in Nashville. (A Shelton pal denies they've set a date.) Meanwhile, their animal attraction was on display at the Cincinnati Zoo August 8. As Shelton, 40, wrapped his arms around the rocker, 46, an onlooker notes, "she had a huge smile on her face!"

Gaga (in L.A. with Kinney Feb. 28) is recording her sixth album.

She Still Has the Ring!

➔ Maybe their romance wasn't so bad after all. Taylor Kinney and Lady Gaga "have been talking," a source close to the Chicago Fire actor, 35, tells Hot Stuff. "Taylor really hopes they'll get back together." (The pair ended their 17-month engagement in July, citing distance and conflicting work schedules.) Though Gaga's assistants recently moved her belongings out of Kinney's Chicago apartment, a pal says it's more telling that the singer, 30, kept her heart-shape 15-carat engagement ring. "There's still a chance for them," says the source. "She feels terrible and hopes it works out."
